Re: Technical Program Manager (Product & Engineering PMO)

Dear Collibra Hiring Team,

I am applying for the Technical Program Manager role in Collibra's Product & Engineering PMO. I am highly motivated to join Collibra, help lead delivery of business-critical programmes, and be part of the company's vision for data intelligence. This is not a generic programme role for me. I have already worked with Collibra inside large banks, and I want to bring that customer-side experience into Collibra itself.

At KBC Bank in Brussels and earlier at Credit Suisse, I worked with Collibra on data governance and catalogue delivery. I saw how stewardship, metadata and engineering teams depend on clear ownership, shared definitions and reliable delivery. That experience is why Collibra's mission matters to me personally: when the platform and the delivery model work together, organisations make better decisions with trusted data.

My recent work matches what this role asks for. As Agile Program Lead at KBC, I drove Product and Engineering programmes from initiation to delivery across five countries, in a matrixed setting with many stakeholders. I used Agile practices with SDLC discipline, tracked delivery metrics leaders could act on, removed impediments, escalated risks early, and kept senior leadership informed. Before that, as Product Owner and Manager at Uplight, I owned roadmap and release decisions for a multi-country product on GCP, working closely with Product and Engineering leadership.

For the last three years I have also been one of the founding directors of iostream Technology and Consulting, leading the Agile Center of Excellence across Business Operations, Product Management and IT Engineering. Building and leading a company from the ground up taught me ownership, judgement under ambiguity, and how to set a clear vision while still jumping in to get delivery moving. Since September 2025 I have been leading the India operation. That founding experience is a big reason I am ready to lead at Collibra with energy and accountability.

I spent four years working in Belgium, including my time at KBC in Brussels, and I would like to come back to Belgium for this role. Collibra's Brussels base and the chance to work inside Product & Engineering Operations excite me: improve processes, support release and go-to-market partners, give executives clear status, and help teams ship on a steady cadence. I would be proud to contribute as a Technical Program Manager and to grow with Collibra's vision.

I would welcome a conversation about how I can support the P&E PMO team.

Yours sincerely,

Anjish Bhondwe
