Re: Squad Master / Product Owner · Private Individuals Onboarding (DBCF)

Dear ING Hiring Team,

I am applying for Squad Master / Product Owner on Private Individuals Onboarding. You need someone who can own the digital front door with Customer Journey Experts: onboarding journeys, acquisition and activation processes, roadmap from strategy to execution, and growth KPIs, while Risk, KYC and compliance stay in the room. That is the mandate I want. Most of my career is banking at KBC Bank and Verzekering, Credit Suisse, HSBC and Standard Bank, so customer impact and bank controls together is normal ground for me.

I already do this shape of work inside a Belgian bank. At KBC in Brussels and Leuven I led multi-country EMEA squads for four years. I owned the roadmap with Product, used KPI packs for SteerCo decisions, cleared dependencies across journey partners, Risk, data and compliance, and delivered under GDPR and ECB constraints. As Product Owner at Uplight I owned a multi-country digital product roadmap end to end. I am certified CSPO, SAFe SSM and SAFe PMPO. That is why I fit: delivery ownership, stakeholder orchestration and a banking habit of working with risk in the room.

I may not match every criterion or keyword a screening tool looks for. I still believe I can deliver the value this role asks for: own the onboarding mandate with your Customer Journey Experts, run the roadmap, clear blockers across the bank, and move the outcomes that matter for Private Individuals.

I am Director of Agile Delivery & Transformation at iostring today. I still coach banking-facing squads, and I am actively looking for a permanent Squad Master / Product Owner role back in Belgian banking. I have a Belgian residence A card sponsored by my current employer. For ING that means the usual transfer of the A card to you as the new sponsor, and then I can start. I work in English and Dutch.

Happy to talk about the onboarding squad with your Customer Journey Experts.

Yours sincerely,

Anjish Bhondwe
