Remote · Immediate joiner

PROFESSIONAL SUMMARY

I lead software delivery teams through the full cycle of planning, story refinement, execution and release, with a steady focus on customer value, team health and predictable outcomes. Most of my recent work has been coaching Agile development teams: breaking down product epics into clear user stories and acceptance criteria, running ceremonies that actually improve flow, and using delivery metrics (velocity, capacity, cycle time, throughput) to guide continuous improvement. I am comfortable leading without relying only on formal authority, protecting team focus, managing dependencies and risks, and speaking for the team at programme level while staying close to Product Management. I have worked for years with fully remote and multi-timezone teams. Available as an immediate joiner for Pearson's remote Specialist, Technology Delivery role. Learning and capability building sit at the centre of how I coach, which is why Pearson's purpose around education and lifelong learning is a strong personal fit.
