Re: Senior Project Manager (Program Manager), Cloud & AI

Dear CloudNation Hiring Team,

I am applying for the Senior Project Manager (Program Manager) role in your People & Process Office. I lead complex delivery programs in regulated environments by setting clear standards and removing blockers.

For three years at KBC in Brussels and Leuven I led delivery across data, platform, DevOps and product teams in a five-country matrix of around 3,000 people. I ran data governance and catalogue delivery with Collibra, built the delivery metrics used in SteerCo and senior leadership reviews, and managed risks, dependencies and escalations across risk, business and technology. I led the delivery team for KBC's Kate Coin, a digital bank coin built under ECB constraints. Earlier, at Credit Suisse and on AWS and Google Cloud programs, I worked on risk data, Customer 360 and a multi-country sustainability product.

I help teams see what needs to change and why it matters, use my technical background to challenge assumptions and spot patterns, and help people reach the answers. I communicate a clear picture to align stakeholders, and I work across Product, Delivery and Customer Success, credible with senior management and with the team on the ground. I am comfortable making hard calls when there is no perfect option or full agreement, including unpopular ones that protect long-term outcomes, reliability and team effectiveness, and I stay calm and decisive in complex client situations.

On cloud and AI: I have delivered on AWS and Google Cloud, run bank-wide data governance, and hold AI governance credentials (AIGP, the EU AI Act program at TU Delft, and AI Regulation and Law at KU Leuven). I am comfortable using AI tools in delivery. I have not worked on Azure CAF or the MLOps lifecycle at the level this role describes; getting up to speed on a domain like that is something I take on directly.

I lived and worked in Belgium for four years, so I know the Benelux market and its stakeholders. I recently returned from parental leave and have spent the past year leading iosting's India operations. I am happy to return to the Benelux region for this role.

I would welcome a conversation about how I can contribute to CloudNation's programs.

Yours sincerely,

Anjish Bhondwe
